

Yes, I've worked in other sectors myself, and anyone with experience of working in a complex environment can make a success of working in local government.