

You need to learn about and understand the sector for sure, but if you can, local government is a fascinating place to work, one that directly affects peoples' every day lives. So please do your research, familiarise yourself with how local politics works, and the wide range of responsibilities that local authorities deal with.